Notorious Gossip

A vivacious discussion was now in full swing.
"You went up two flights and knocked three times."
"They all claim they're former princesses, but this one—"
"Just off Bingham Road—"
"I never did like Shanghai. As to the reasons, one of them is that everybody else has been there and knows so much more about it than I do."

Next morning, when Jack looked out of his bedroom window he was surprised to find that the beans had grown overnight, with the result that a gigantic beanstalk had occurred, with its roots in the garden, and its branches in the skies—just like them hollyhocks what people write to the "Daily Wangle" about.

Jack decided to see what was at the top, so up he went, hand over hand, and duly arrived at the entrance to a giant's castle. From within came a noise like the machine-room of an evening newspaper during the rush-hour—it was the giant eating his soup.

At last the giant pushed his plate away, and sighed contentedly. As he did so he spotted Jack who had crept into the room. He glared.

"How the heck did you get in here?" he roared.
Jack produced a notebook. "Listen," he said, "I represent the 'Yuncombe Boro News' and would like a few words from you regarding the proposed new sewage farm."

"A reporter, huh! Well, I'll just show ya what I do with reporters!" And the giant picked up a hefty club.

"I ain't saying you didn't do your best," said the news editor as he spiked Jack's story, "but I do reckon you oughta have phoned the story, you out. This 'is' a evening paper—not a year book. You're too late for the Late Final, and the B.B.C. broadcast a running commentary of your scrambling down the beanstalk in their 6 o'clock news bulletin. So, you see, the story's as dead as mutton."
"So 'is' the giant," said Jack.

MARRIAGES AT THE REGISTRY

Three Couples United

The Registrar of Marriages had a very busy day on Saturday morning when no less than three couples were united in marriage.

Mr. Frederick Leopold Brown, patrolman, of No. 16 Nullah Road, Kowloon, the son of the late Mr. Johannes Carl Brown, was married to Miss Nina Wilson, of No. 33 Talpo Road, the daughter of the late Mr. Herman Martin Wilson. Miss Alva P. Brown and Mr. Ray Alarco were witnesses to the wedding.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the couple's new home on the Talpo Road, after which they left on their honeymoon, which is to be spent in Canton.

Mr. Huang Chao-kuang, a tidewater in the employ of the Chinese Maritime Customs, Hong Kong, the son of Mr. Huang King-yan, retired merchant, was married to Miss Young Choi-yung, of No. 9 Man Ching-fong, Hong Kong, the daughter of the late Mr. Young Pk-chi.

Mr. Fung Koon-yew, merchant, of No. 73 Bonham Road, Hong Kong, son of the late Mr. Fung Yan-sen, was married to Miss Yu Wai-ching, of the same address, the daughter of Mr. Yu Lee-chi.

CURRENCY LAW OFFENCES

Bishop And Brother Convicted

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, November 24, 4.50 a.m.)

Berlin, Nov. 23.
The sensational trial of the 53-year-old Catholic Bishop of Meissen, Dr. Peter Legge, and his associates on charges of currency smuggling, ended here on Saturday with the Bishop being fined 100,000 marks while his two confederates were given severe terms of imprisonment.

The Bishop's brother and financial adviser, Dr. Theodore Legge, was sentenced to five years' penal servitude with a fine of 75,000 marks and deprivation of civil rights for five years, while Canon Professor Sopha was sentenced to three years' penal servitude and likewise fined 75,000 marks and deprived of his civil rights for a period of five years.

Forty-five thousand marks of the Bishop's "fine" were remitted to the court as the equivalent for the time spent in prison before the trial. From the terms of imprisonment imposed on the other two accused, eight months were deducted in each case in consideration of the time spent in prison before the trial.

The Court ordered the confiscation of Dutch bonds valued at 95,000 guilders, and holds the Bishop of Meissen liable for the payment of this sum as well as for the payment of all fines imposed.

DRAMATIC SCENES
Dramatic scenes took place before judgment was pronounced when the Bishop in his final speech in his defence made an impassioned protest of his innocence. The Bishop's brother in his final plea admitted illegal currency dealings, but exonerated the Bishop, taking the entire blame upon himself.

The Court in its finding nevertheless came to the conclusion that the Bishop must have been cognizant, or at least must have suspected, of illegal transactions of his confederates although he himself may not have had a hand in these dealings, and therefore must have been guilty of gross negligence.

New Government Formed

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, November 24, 4.50 a.m.)

Sofia, Nov. 23.
The cabinet crisis ended late on Saturday afternoon when the King gave his approval to the list of ministers submitted by Premier Kuesseivanoff. The list included the former Vice-President of the Bulgarian National Bank, Mr. Guneff, as the Minister of Finance. General Lukoff as the War Minister, and retired General Jowoff as the Minister for Education, Civil Engineer Stojanoff as the Minister of Communications, Professor Atandoff as the Minister for Agriculture, and the well-known business man, M. Waleff as the Minister of Commerce.

The portfolio for Foreign Affairs was taken over by the Premier himself. The Government is constructed strictly along non-party lines, it being stressed in official circles that despite the presence in the Cabinet of an active and two retired generals, the new ministry will be maintained in complete independence of Army influence, which is stated to be now definitely excluded from politics.

The Proven STOMACH REMEDY for Bad Cases

Amazing evidence of the remarkable speed with which indigestion and stomach pain can be stopped has been revealed by medical experiments and X-ray photographs of actual cases. These prove the ingredients of "Bisurated" Magnesia to be the quickest-acting and most effective known to medical science. Within 5 minutes a teaspoonful of "Bisurated" Magnesia in a little water produced complete relief in cases where numerous other remedies had failed entirely.

Its Action Explained—
Simply take a teaspoonful of the powder in a little water. The moment this soothing draught reaches the tortured stomach it begins to soothe the inflamed, irritable, and distressed food. The contents of the stomach become at once and soothingly soft, and the sensitive stomach lining. The pain quickly lessens and presently disappears. By following up the treatment when each meal, your harassed stomach will soon "come to its senses" and "grow strong," and you can eat whatever you like and enjoy every meal, without fear of wind and pain.

A NOTED ENGLISH DOCTOR SAYS:

"I find that 'Bisurated' Magnesia taken after my meals is the only thing that keeps me free from pain and discomfort, and I take it regularly. I often prescribe it for my patients, and have had very good results."

H.G. — M.A., M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.

ANOTHER DOCTOR SAYS:

"'Bisurated' Magnesia gives excellent results and is the ideal remedy for stomach pains and acidity. It is particularly recommended for Dyspepsia, Gastritis, Stomach Pains, Flatulence, and even Stomach Ulcers."

H.L. — Faculty of Medicine, Paris.

THE CHOICE DOCTOR'S MANDATE-OR UNDERTAKER'S? Social Policy, Next Phase

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Nov. 23. Writing in the "Observer" Mr. J. L. Garvin says:—
Security and Progress are the inseparable objects of policy in the democratic State. Unless the foundations well and truly laid, the edifice of social welfare cannot stand. But Security is for progress, just as Defence is primarily for peace. Last week we saw that the excited jumble of Opposition passions clamouring at once for weak armaments and bellicose action is as virulent a menace to the general peace as exists in the world to-day, and would assuredly lead to war with disaster. When we turn now from Security to Progress, we shall see that the issue is as plain and decisive. You have the certainty of steady constructive reform on the one side, and the certainty of class war and its chaos on the other.

THE BLUE-PRINT OF A REVOLUTION

Last time the National Government asked for a doctor's mandate. The Socialist Opposition asked support for a policy which would have been an undertaker's mandate. The contrast remains the same. By the return of the Opposition to office confidence in the future of Britain would be destroyed at home and abroad.

This time the real crisis of attempted Socialisation would have to begin. We have been told that the methods of dictatorship would be borrowed for this purpose, and indeed, no other methods would serve. Summary and drastic Parliamentary procedure would be adopted to nullify the House of Lords for the proper purposes of a Second Chamber, and to make a temporary party-majority the overbearing instrument of irrevocable change of a character amounting to a first revolution in the sense of the class-war.

It is as well to remind ourselves that Socialism is the policy of transferring private ownership and suppressing private enterprise. The method of effecting that policy in instalments instead of at one open sweep in the Bolshevist manner makes no difference to the principle of the process. The work of handing over the business of the country to the control of the Labour Party would begin, doubtless, with the nationalisation of transport. That of the mines and the land would follow. Other key-industries and key-services would be appropriated in turn.

Above all, needless to say, the object of active Socialism—though in this country it calls itself the "Labour Party"—is to get its hands upon the Bank of England and all the banks; and through them upon every owner, employer, shareholder, and investor in the country. Steps towards that purpose would be taken at an early stage if Labour by any chance could get office with power. The result, as Sir Stafford Cripps and others have been good enough to proclaim, would be a financial crisis of the first—that is the worst—magnitude. The only possible alternative to National Government is Class Government whose real policy would be the blue-print of a revolution.

"DO YOU WANT IT AGAIN?"

Like all mankind, the Labour Party in office were largely the victims of the unparalleled slump. Yes; but they showed exceptional buoyancy in face of it, though they had claimed to possess superior abilities and almost magical recipes for the organisation of the world, and especially for the management of business. What did they do? They ran the Insurance Fund into debt and bankruptcy at the rate of a million a week. Their Budgets became like manipulated balance-sheets concealing the fact that they were no longer paying our way. This is your pleasure, in Britain of all countries.

Amidst the slump and through the worst of it they prolonged the egregious system of "free trade." The promiscuous influx of foreign manufactured goods poured in until the number of our unemployed maintained out of public funds had risen to the vast figure of 3,000,000. In imports and exports (including services) our national trading account showed a mounting balance on the wrong side. There was a Budget deficit which Lord Snowden himself called "appalling" when he subsequently repaired his share in the misery.

After so many generations of proud tradition the commercial and financial reputation of this country in foreign eyes was broken at last under "Labour" in office. Capital fled from London, regarded no longer as the stronghold of security but as a falling citadel. Britain was regarded abroad, especially in America—and even in the Dominions—as down and out. We were reduced to the assistance of foreign loans. In vain. Britain was forced off the gold standard. At the time it was the climax of the world's amazements, and of our own disrepute. As Sir Stafford Cripps would say, there was "a first-class financial crisis." Do you want it again?

BISHOP'S CROSS RETURNED

By "Cat Burglar Kitten"

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 30. A cross stolen from Fuhnam Palace during the week-end was returned to the Bishop of London yesterday. It was a bronze cross, and later a gold cross which had been reported to be among the stolen articles was found in the palace.

The cross, together with an anonymous note, was sent to a London evening newspaper. The note read: "This is the cross that was stolen from the Bishop of London which is supposed to be gold. Please return. His watch and chain has been melted and sold for £3, which was placed in a hospital box—From a Cat Burglar Kitten."

At the point of the cross are the initials "C.E.M.S." (Church of England Men's Society). It was discovered last night that the Bishop's gold cross, which was believed to be among the missing property, had not been stolen. The Bishop identified the bronze cross on its return, and in order to clear up the mystery of the gold cross he had another search made at the palace.

A maid found the gold cross in a little used drawer, and the police were immediately informed of the error originally made in describing the stolen property.

RUGGER BATTLE THRILLS

Scotland Lose To All Blacks

London, Nov. 23. Leading by 13 points to 3 at half-time the New Zealand rugby tourists beat Scotland by 18 points to 8 at Murrayfield to-day in the presence of 40,000 spectators.

The teams were unchanged. Lambourn turning out for the "All Blacks." The ground was slightly soft and weather conditions were ideal. Early thrills were provided when the Scots almost scored from the start. After 15 minutes, however, Dick, who was brilliant throughout, passed to Fyfe who outpaced the defence for a try. Fyfe's kick failed.

At this stage Murdoch went off as the result of an injury and during his absence, following a bout of magnificent passing, Caughey went over for Gilbert to convert and thus gave the visitors a two-point lead.

LEAD INCREASED

Scotland rallied following the return of Murdoch, but Hadley went over for New Zealand, Gilbert again converting.

A great effort by Logan was spoiled when Dick held on to the ball too long, but the visitors would not be denied, Caughey going over for an unconverted try.

The "All Blacks" led by 13 points to 3 at the interval, and fully deserved their lead as they made the most of their opportunities and wasted few passes.

After the resumption, Logan, Shaw and Dick were featured in a fine movement resulting in Dick going over between the posts for Murdoch to convert.

Owing to close tackling neither side were able to get to close quarters.

A few minutes from the finish, following a clever breakaway by Sadler, who was supported by Mitchell and Caughey, the latter crossed over for a try, Gilbert converting for the third time.

A last desperate effort by the Scots failed a yard from the line, and the "All Blacks" won by 18 points to 8.

SUPERIOR COMBINATION

After looking like a beaten side at half-time, the Scots rallied grandly in the second-half and the game might have gone either way until the last 10 minutes, and, but for dropped passes the Scots might have scored several times.

This showed that a team cannot afford to make mistakes against the New Zealanders, who made the most of wild passes, and it was undoubtedly their superior combination which won the day.

Prominent for the "All Blacks" were Sadler, Caughey, Mitchell, Hart, Manchester, the captain, and Reid, while Beattie, Thom, Waters and Lambie were the equal of their opposite numbers.—
Reuter.

HOME RACING

November Handicap Triumph

London, Nov. 23. Free Fare, ridden by Sammy Wraggs, won the Manchester November Handicap to-day when he beat Thrapsion (Rickaby) by five lengths in a field of 10 starters. Jesmond Dene (Steve Donoghue) was third, 11 lengths behind Thrapsion.

The betting was 22 to 1 Free Fare, 100 to 8 Thrapsion, 25 to 1 Jesmond Dene.

Free Fare's win was a question of third-time lucky, as the horse ran second in 1933 and third in 1934. On both occasions he appeared certain to win, but swerved badly when near the post, thus losing his connections a small fortune. This year the horse was most generous and won in a canter.

Crawley Wood, a 7-2 favourite, was not in the first ten.

A last-minute sensation was caused when it was announced that Pegomas, which was heavily supported overnight, had not been declared as a runner owing to an oversight. The trainer said that another person, instructed to do so, had misunderstood the instructions, and told Reuter: "It was a terrible blow, as I thought the horse would be a certain winner."

Reuter understands that Pegomas's connection had invested £500 in ante-post betting.—

Derby Take The Lead

BRENTFORD TRIUMPH OVER ARSENAL

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Nov. 23. Often has the charge been made against football clubs in recent times that the ideas of the players run more to destructive than constructive football. So far as this season has gone, however, the verdict must be that the case is "not proven." Goals are scored by constructive football, and the outstanding feature of this season's play has been the prolific nature of the goal scoring. The games yesterday provided a considerable amount of additional evidence on the point. There were goals in plenty, and while it may be argued that they are getting too cheap, there cannot be any question but that, from the point of view of the followers of the game, goals supply the spice. In all the big leagues yesterday there were goals in plenty. Indeed, throughout the Football League programme there was only one game which was goalless.

It is appropriate that the First Division where constructive football should reach the highest point, should lead the way. The eleven games produced a grand total of forty-eight goals, which my arithmetic lessons tell me is an average of over four per match. Alast that Aston Villa supporters should again have the indignity of seeing six shots placed past their goalkeeper. Grimsby Town, who before the game shared a lowly place with the Villa, administered the latest blow—centre-forward Glover scoring four of the six goals. This was the sixth defeat sustained by Aston Villa on their own ground this season. The manager has left, and for the time being the side is in the charge of Frank Barson, one of the most skilful of the many half-backs brought up in the Barnsley nursery.

EVERTON BEAT STOKE

There was a time, just after the war, when Barson came to the rescue of the Villa as a player. They—as now—were then at the bottom of the League, with only three points to show from ten games played. The inspiration of Barson was such that, following his arrival to play at centre-half, ten games out of the succeeding eleven were won, and in the self-same season Aston Villa won the Cup. We can only hope that somewhere, Barson will find the wearers of the claret and blue a similar inspiration.

Another player who scored four goals was Cunliffe, the inside-left of Everton, thus enabling his side to beat Stoke by five goals to one. Twice this season Cunliffe has been the reserve forward for English representative teams. Maybe he will be promoted in the next side, particularly as the selectors have made experiments with players occupying the same position.

BRENTFORD AND ARSENAL

There is no real recompense for a Cup Final defeat, but there is at least compensation, and West Bromwich Albion, defeated by Sheffield Wednesday at Wembley last April, duly took their share. They shared with Grimsby Town the distinction of being the away winners of the First Division. Only the other week West Bromwich scored seven goals in an away match at Villa Park, and the improvement of the "Throstles" is an outstanding feature of current play. This big defeat of the Wednesday will cause the manager to wonder whether the acquisition of Bruce and Rhodes should constitute the end of his rebuilding schemes.

A few years back there was no hint that Brentford would be engaging Arsenal in League matches. Yesterday they not only engaged them, but beat the champions by two goals to one. Despite team changes which, in theory, weakened the side, one of the two Brentford goals was scored by J. C. Burns, the only amateur playing regularly in a First Division side. A half-back of repute, Burns had to take the inside-left position in the emergency. This fine amateur does most of his training with the boys of his school, and the fact that he stands the test at the week-end contains a hint that it is not really necessary for the star footballers to spend so much time on the playing pitch during the week. There is still time for Arsenal to prove the falsity of the conclusion, but for the moment it must be said that the vision of a fourth successive championship is fading away.

DERBY COUNTY

Derby County, with two goals credited to the Scottish forward Napier, went into the leading place for the first time this season. They have only scored as many goals as Aston Villa at the other extreme, but their defensive record is better than any of their competitors. Of Derby County it is sometimes said they have won nothing save respect. Neither the League Championship nor the Cup have come their way. Is this to be the season in which this shortcoming is to be remedied?

Sunderland, who drew at Portsmouth, are only behind Derby by "dimmed decimals," and lacking the services of their suspended forward, they drew against a defence weakened by an injury to Rochford. Carter, one of the forwards who has been disappointing since elevated to representative team rank, scored both goals, and has now more successful shots to his credit this season than any other First Division player. It is a considerable time since any player, other than a centre-forward, figured thus prominently, though the day is remembered when Smith, now manager of Blackpool, and then the Bolton Wanderers' inside-left, shared a goal-scoring record for the greatest number obtained by any individual in one season. That was in the days before the offside law was changed. We are going back to old-time ideas of forward play, when the inside forwards were more than mere fetchers and carriers.

SECOND DIVISION

Bold team changes by Wolverhampton Wanderers—a half-back at centre-forward and a centre-forward at half-back—produced a satisfactory result, Leeds United being defeated by three goals, of which the half-back claimed two. Despite a splendid exhibition in goal by Hibbs, Birmingham were beaten at Preston, and Blackburn Rovers had their colours lowered by Lancashire rivals at Bolton. Apparently, Middlesbrough set a pace which was too fast for them to maintain, and they could only draw at home to Liverpool. There was no satisfaction for Chelsea—not even a goal—at Huddersfield, where the player who was supposed to be too small for the centre-forward position, Lythgoe, had two successful shots.

Judged by the scoring, the Second Division games were more closely contested, but in this section also goals were plentiful. Tottenham Hotspur led the way with seven against Swansea Town, who had the misfortune to lose the services of centre-half Hanford early in the second half. In this game three goals were scored by Hall, the inside-left of the Spurs, who has previously been looked upon as the schemer rather than the finisher.

UNITED BEATEN

A significant result was that at Manchester, where the United were beaten by Leicester City, who thus retain the lead. Manchester United have the best figures in defence of any of the big clubs, having conceded nine in the course of thirteen games. But they may be reminded that goal-win games. I confess to surprise at the position held by Doncaster Rovers, who gained a splendid victory at Plymouth against a much-shuffled side. I was among those who doubted whether the resources of Doncaster would be sufficient to enable them to hold their own in the class to which they were promoted at the end of last season. A victory at Barnsley kept Blackpool in touch with the leaders, but despite their win at the expense of Nottingham Forest, Hull City did not get away from the foot of the table. Port Vale, scoring three goals in the first seventeen minutes of the

SHARKEY'S COMEBACK FIGHTS

Boston, Nov. 23.

The referee decided that Winston was not trying, and agreed to allow the fight to continue after the enraged and yelling crowd had surged towards the rings. Sharkey then immediately launched a two-fisted volley to the head of the negro, who was floored for the full count.—Reuters.

game against Bradford, climbed one rung of the ladder, and West Ham gained their first away point of the season at Newcastle. As at one period of the game West Ham held a lead of two goals, they might have done even better than share the points in a thrilling game.

Reading gained their tenth victory of the season in the Southern Third Division, in which section the advance of Crystal Palace may be noted. Recent activity by the new manager suggests that the Palace are determined to step out boldly on the promotion trail. There were two away wins, Aldershot following up their victory over Reading by winning at Cardiff. The once mighty Welsh side have indeed failed. Nor is there any turn of fortune's wheel for Exeter City, already five points worse off than the club immediately above them. They too, have the figure ten opposite their name in the record—but that is the number of defeats.

The surprise of the Northern Third Division was the downfall of Lincoln City on their own ground—to Mansfield. From the beginning of March of this year Crewe were the only team to beat Lincoln prior to yesterday. In the interim Lincoln had won eleven out of twelve home games. Crewe and Tranmere took part in the one goalless draw of the day.

Society Traditions Shattered

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 30. Traditions of society will be shattered next Tuesday night when, headed by Lord and Lady Strathcona and Viscountess Massereene and Ferrard, several hundred guests will dine at tables covered with black velvet and gold net tablecloths.

Modernistic British china, in which all the plates are square instead of round, will be used on these tablecloths at The Dorchester. The dinner will not be served till 9 p.m. and will continue till 11.

An exact replica of the Duchess of York's white Chippendale dinner service will be used for Lord and Lady Strathcona and their forty guests, who will include the German Ambassador, and white carnations with silvered leaves will be arranged in crystal bowls on the black velvet cloth.

On the other tables, where hosts and hostesses will include Sir Weldon and Lady Dalrymple-Champneys, Lady Massereene and the Hon. Sybil Borthwick, half red and half white china will be used.

From Burslem is being sent a china tea service that has been

Physicians emphasize:

"Take Kalzana to conquer Weakness"

"Whenever there is evidence of disfunction in the body, lack of minerals is probably a contributing factor," writes Dr. H. F. W. B. London

"After a course of Kalzana the general condition improved, tiredness disappeared, the patient became more cheerful and the entire organism got strengthened and rejuvenated," writes Dr. Cl. R.

KALZANA
the discovery of
Prof. LOEW

MINERALS play a very important role in the body, for a shortage of these minerals is always followed by weakness and ill-health.

Any single organ may be first to suffer. In some people it will be the teeth which show up the existing mineral deficiency. Others will lose their power of resistance to colds and diseases. In women—irregularities of the functions is mostly due to the same cause: lack of vital minerals. Physicians now advise "take Kalzana tablets because they conquer the mineral deficiency." Kalzana brings exactly those vital elements into the body, the lack of which causes so many complaints. Kalzana was made to infuse these elements into the body, it is the outcome of patient research by that famous scientist Prof. Loew.

Follow the advice of Prof. Loew and thousands of physicians, and make Kalzana a daily addition to your diet. Then you will soon notice how much better and stronger you feel.

A few typical symptoms of mineral deficiency are:

General Weakness
Anæmia
Nervous Irritability
Skin Troubles
Tooth Decay
Low Resistance to Colds and Infections
Feminine Complaints

The opinion of leading Medical Papers:—

"The Tung-Chi Medical Paper" writes:

"The regular administration of Kalzana in sufficient doses maintains normal blood alkalinity, replaces excessive loss of calcium from the tissues, markedly relieves many of the distressing symptoms of disease and definitely assists the body to overcome the infection."

That is the explanation why Kalzana is prescribed on an ever increasing scale by medical practitioners, and it has been scientifically proven that physicians can rely upon Kalzana.

That well-known Medical Paper, "The Practitioner," writes:

"Kalzana acts efficiently in promoting the growth of strong bones and healthy teeth—reducing blood pressure and stimulating the glands and blood-forming organs."

"Kalzana is indicated in the diet of expecting and nursing mothers, and of rapidly growing children, and in all conditions where a mineral food is required, particularly because Kalzana promotes calcium retention."

"THE GLASS KEY"

Dashlet Hammett's "The Glass Key" as worthy successor to his phenomenally popular "The Thin Man" is scheduled to open at the Queen's Theatre at an early date. With George Raft in the leading role and Edward Arnold, Claire Dodd, Rosalind Keith and Charles Richman featured, the picture finds an ingenious solution to a murder that threatens to blow up the political structure of a big city. Edward Arnold the city's political boss, is supporting Charles Richman for a post when the latter's son is killed. Rumour lays the responsibility for the murder at Arnold's door. Arnold is in the throes of an autumnal love for the boy's sister, the boy has killed Arnold's own daughter and witnesses are ready to testify that the two were seen arguing.

"I'LL LOVE YOU ALWAYS"

Love laughs at locksmiths, but not at bill-collectors! This is the timely theme of "I'll Love You Always," the Columbia comedy-romance showing next Tuesday and Wednesday at the Alhambra. Proving that it takes more than sincere devotion and mutual admiration to make marriage last, "I'll Love You Always" depicts the financial problems of Nancy Carroll and George Murphy when they attempt to keep love from flying out of the window on a weekly income of fifteen dollars.

"THE BISHOP MISBEHAVES"

It takes more research and more exact study to put comedy on the screen in many cases, than to present poignant tragedy. Such is the unusual belief of E. A. Dupont, celebrated European director, who guided the screen destinies of Edmund Gwenn, Maureen O'Sullivan, Norman Foster and others of a brilliant cast in "The Bishop Misbehaves," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's whimsical comedy-mystery drama coming on Tuesday to the King's Theatre. It is a gay story of England. And research covered many points; from how a British pub serves its patrons to how a wall safe in a British bishop's house would be arranged.

"THE SCOUNDREL"

Noel Coward makes his acting debut in motion pictures in Paramount's "The Scoundrel," now at the King's Theatre. But, if the popular Englishman's career in films is at all like that he has pursued in the theatre, it will not be long before he will also write and direct them. Coward, the genius of the contemporary theatre, is a combination of dramatist, actor, composer, librettist and director. Yet his introduction to the stage came in small acting roles, and he learned to write songs by singing them as a choir boy in his youth.

WEEK-END CRICKET

Several Matches Played

The Indian Recreation Club started their initial Senior League cricket very brightly when on Saturday they created a strong Army eleven. Thanks to their "speed merchant" F. D. Pereira who captured 7 wickets for 38 runs the Army was dismissed for 127.

The Army started disastrously and lost three wickets for 18 runs, when Lt. Dawson and Major Bonavia came in to stop the rot. Their partnership realised 87 runs. Dawson claiming 45 and Bonavia 28. With the exception of Cpl. Ballard who scored 35 before he was clean bowled by Pereira, no other batsman reached double figures.

Going in to bat the Indians lost their first wicket for 28 runs and the rate they went about collecting their runs nearly lost them their match. However their tail wagged and they managed to collect both points. Lt. Garthwaite collected six wickets for 42 runs.

"IN CALIENTE"

At The Queen's

"In Caliente" which opened its season at the Queen's Theatre, with the beautiful Dolores Del Rio, is one of the greatest successes of the year.

Here is a musical comedy that has everything it needs—a thread of a story that is amusing and plausible, an exceptional cast, and melodies that will not soon be forgotten, and lavishness in details, without which any film would, these days be a failure.

Miss Del Rio in the leading role once again proves that her real talent lies in such a film as this. Pat O'Brien is sufficiently crude and pushing to fit his part perfectly, without any of the airs and graces which used to be considered so necessary for a leading man in such a story. No doubt all those who see this picture are thankful for the reappearance of Edward Everett Horton, that most original comedian, in a part that suited him admirably while the same goes to Leo Carillo.

The minor parts are all well cast and the settings and dances left very little to be desired. All in all this is an exceptionally good picture and ought not to be missed. "O"

Yesterday Lay was seen in a subdued mood at the start, but later he came out of his shell to hit 10 boundaries.

Alec Pearce, who scored 71 last week, saved for 64 minutes for his 68, scored out of 139. Opening very cautiously, he later hit nine boundaries in a polished innings.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH

In a welcoming address, the President, Mr. Ko Fook Son, said:—
My Lord Bishop, Reverend Fathers, Ladies and Gentlemen: I consider it a great pleasure and a rare opportunity to welcome you all here to-night. The kind attendance of so many distinguished guests, including His Lordship Bishop Valtorta, Rev. Father Conney, Mr. H. C. Macnamara, Mr.
Peter Sin, and Mr. Lim Hoi Lan, and so many honorary members indicates their great interest in our Association. The presence of so many members makes us refuse to believe that our Association is less than one year old. In fact, it was founded on March 20 this year. Since the establishment, my colleagues and I have been working diligently in order to make this young institution a well-founded and really active organisation. Yet we dare not say that we have achieved all the objects anticipated by those who formulated the Constitutions.

THE FIRST "AT HOME"

During the last eight months of the existence of our Association, we have had several gatherings with the object of bringing the past students closer to the College and closer among themselves. In respect of these activities, a Programme Committee, headed by Mr. Fung Kwok Wah, was appointed to carry out the activities set down for the current year.The first "At Home" was successfully held in our College hall on May 4. Other activities consisted of inviting Mr. Macnamara, the well-known local barrister-at-law, to talk on law, and Rector
Father Gallagher, Vice-President of our Association, to lecture on science and religion. I am sure all of us still remember these two most interesting and educational lectures.During the summer months, we held three launch parties, with more than 100 members attending each time. I am glad to announce that we have offered to the College three prizes in order to encourage the present students in essay-writing and debating.
This is but a small part of what we have endeavoured to do towards our College.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

But the scope of our Association is wider than simply giving the past students good times in social gatherings. We must render mutual help to one another,
do work of social value to the community, and be useful to the country. This is the way to glorify our Alma Mater, which has equipped us with education to do great and useful things in future. These great tasks cannot be accomplished by us alone. Enthusiastic cooperation is needed if success is aimed at.Now I wish to give my heartfelt thanks to our distinguished guests for their presence to-night, and particularly for their keen interest in our Association since its birth. I feel greatly indebted to the Council members for their valuable assistance, which has made this Association so far so successful.Father Gallagher, our Vice-President, is the most able man who links our Association in close touch with the College. He pays as much attention to the past students as to the present. The existence of our Association entirely depends on that of the College, because a growing college environment year by year means a corresponding increase in our members after their graduation.

PRAISE FOR OFFICIALS

I should like to thank the Hon.
Secretary, Mr. Joseph Ng, publicly for the efficient manner in which he has carried out the Council's decisions. We also admire the way our Hon. Treasurer, Mr.
Kwan Yim Chor, financed the activities with only a limited advance from the membership fees. Mr. Chan Wai Sun is another hard-working Council member. He supplied us with delicious food at most reasonable rates.

have lightened the heavy respon-

FIGHTING THE SHARKSTerror Of The Australian
BeachesA picked team of Australian Life Savers are to tour Britain.
Below an Englishman in Sydney tells of the work these men do—all voluntarily, of the dangers they face from sharks, terror of Sydney's marvellous surfing beaches, and of the pluck of some of the victims of the tiger of the sea."Mind you're not 'taken'!" My Australian office colleague issued the warning solemnly when I had informed him that I proposed to go surfing that afternoon—a blazing hot day in mid-January."Taken," I echoed, "by whom?"
You have to be resident in Australia—especially in Sydney—to understand the significance of the word. It really means "don't become shark bait."I did not pay much attention to it at the time. Used to Brighton, Hastings, Worthing—or Blackpool, it did not mean a lot. But when,
later that day, having surfed, and thoroughly enjoyed it, at Marou-bra, a tram-ride from the centre of the city, I bought an evening paper, I changed my mind.For, within half an hour of my leaving the beach there a young married man had been "taken,"
despite the utmost gallantry shown by a sixteen-year-old youngster who had gone to his assistance.In three feet of water, he had actually held on to one of the victim's arms, while a 12 feet grey nurse shark held on to the other arm, and was thrashing the water into foam in a furious effort to snatch its prey.The victim died soon after he was dragged ashore. Now, when I go surfing, I take good care that there are plenty of other surfers in my immediate vicinity.

A REAL MENACE

The shark menace is a very real thing in Sydney. Several of the more popular beaches have shark-proof nets guarding a surfing area.
Others this season will be spending hundreds of pounds "meshing" for the brutes.But the average Australian sur-fer puts his trust in luck... and the Life Saver. On every beach of note—and there are twenty at least within a 4d. tram-ride of Sydney's railway station—you will find these stalwart, sun-tanned fellows standing on watch.Throughout the hottest day with the shade temperature topping 103, they work in relays. Always there are at least four on guard, and never for an instant do they relax their vigilant study of the sea.Close at hand there is the lifeline, with its "harness." As soon as the alarm is raised a perfectly trained team get to work. A strong swimmer slips into the harness, the line is paid out hand over hand above the heads of his team-mates.Another team mans the surf-boat. Off they go to where the victim is struggling, thrashing the water. Death faces them, but on they go, fearless, each man
knowing what is expected of him.
And, given a little luck another victim is saved from the brutes that terrorise the coastline.Few of these Life Savers are below six feet in height; all are magnificent specimens of humanity. They train with the best of the champion boxer, preparing for a title match, for they do not receive a penny for their toil.
Their proudest moment is when they are given the privilege of

OBITUARY

Mr. G. E. Bell

It is with deep regret that we have to record the death of Mr.
George Edward Bell, a retired merchant, which occurred at the Government Civil Hospital on Saturday after a long illness.The late Mr. Bell who had been ill for some two or three months past with stomach trouble, had been in China for some 40 years,
and was well-known at Pakhoi,
from which place, he retired about 11 years ago, when it was first menaced by the "Reds."The deceased gentleman was 60 years of age, and leaves a wife, a daughter-in-law and two grandchildren to mourn his death, and to whom the deepest sympathy is extended.

THE FUNERAL

The funeral took place yesterday evening at the Catholic Cemetery, and was attended by a number of his personal friends. Rev. Father Brown conducted the burial service at the graveside.The principal mourners at the funeral were the deceased's wife, his daughter-in-law and two grand-children.Wreaths were sent by his sorrowing wife and children, Mr. and Mrs.
Shiu Chow, Mr. Kwok Ho, Mr. Lok
Hah Wan, Mrs. Lin Tai Koo, Mrs.
Chan Yuet Ngor, The St. Mary's Church of Causeway Bay and many others.

CONFUCIAN SOCIETY

Raises $3,353 From Sale
Of RosesThe gratifying sum of $3,353.35 was collected by a host of charming Chinese Ladies on Saturday on behalf of the Confucian Society when their "Rose Day" was held in order to raise funds for the free night schools.At a very early hour of the morning, that must have meant the loss of a couple of hours' sleep to many of them, they spread themselves over Hong Kong and Kowloon, on the principle that it is the early bird that catches the worm; indeed, the very earliest of those going to business were caught and calmed into buying a flower.No less than 870 girls, selected from 14 schools, took part in the drive.Their energy seemed boundless.
Not content with their strenuous work of the morning they devoted the afternoon to a concerted raid on the spectators at the various sports grounds and succeeded in drawing many extra dollars from the pockets of their willing victims.wearing the special blazer awarded to the fully-trained Life Saver.
Incidentally, he buys it himself!The most amazing thing, perhaps, is that those shark victims who recover seldom give up their pastime of surfing despite the terrible shock to their nervous systems.There is Max Steele, for example. He was "taken" at North Bondi—one of the favourite beaches—in April, 1922.A shark severed one of his legs, and badly maimed the other.
The dreadfully injured man swam back to the shore, making no sound. You see, his younger brother was also surfing near at hand, and Max was afraid that if he called out his brother would rush to his rescue and perhaps meet with the same fate.

World Bridge Olympic PREPARATIONS FOR COLOSSAL EVENT

GREATER PARTICIPATION EXPECTED

In an advertisement elsewhere in this issue, Bridge devotees are urged to save the night of February 4, 1936, for the play of the Olympic in Hong Kong. The success of the 1935 tournament here leads the committee to believe that there will be an even greater participation for in addition to the chance of an Olympic prize, local awards are made for high scores.

An article by G. W. Beynon in "The Bridge World" describes the history and operation of the event.

SELECTION OF HANDS

Few people realize the tremendous amount of work involved in preparation for this colossal event. The selection of hands, suitable for such a contest requires months of careful analysis and tests. Sixteen hands, only, can be used and each must illustrate a principle in play or bidding. There must be plenty of variation to intrigue the participants; trick or problem hands must be carefully avoided. Some people think the whole set is made up of catch hands. Such is not the case.

The Olympic Committee is composed of the most eminent masters of Contract, each of whom submits a certain number of hands. These are culled to fit the programme of pictured principles. Many hours are given to argument over featured points and the question of acceptance becomes a matter of final vote. But for the past three years no trick hands have been offered, for the experts realize the devastating psychological influence brought upon players who find that a backward contract is necessary to fulfil a contract and win a pair. Every hand selected for world competition must have certain qualifications, the chief of which is its normality. To provide universal competition and its purpose precludes fooling the players.

ORGANIZATION

With the establishment of these sixteen prepared pair hands, the clerical force goes into action. Three hundred thousand circulars are sent out announcing the forthcoming event. Thousands of letters follow, telling former captains the plans for the year, answering questions about routine or conduct of the game. This goes on for about three months while thousands of game captains are appointed and catalogued. It is tedious work and very exacting but without there is a glamour about it.

Letters pour in from all parts of the world and every state in the union. As on a magic carpet one is carried from Serravallo, in the Dutch East Indies to Beirut, Syria, and wafted to New Zealand, Honolulu, Hong Kong, Cape Town, South Africa; Shanghai, China; Palestine, P.O. N.Y., and back to Baghdad, Iraq. Within a few moments every nation in the world passes in stamp review before your eyes.

As the zero hour approaches the tardy ones begin to wire for captainties. The speed becomes accelerated. Night is turned into day by extra shifts. Every inquiry is answered immediately; every modern time saver is utilized. By letter, wire and airplane, the replies rush out to the farthest corners of the earth. And along with these go the materials, equipment and hand sets.

THEY'RE OFF

At 8.01 p.m. February 4, every hand must be ready for play, every player in his seat prepared to fight for world supremacy. The contest is entirely different from duplicate or rubber bridge. You do not play against the board-by-board score of competitors as in the former nor try to defeat your immediate opponents as in the latter. Each hand has a par value to be met. Sometimes it is in the play of declarer, sometimes in the defense of a contract. Often the proper opening lead will gain a par for defenders and cost declarer his contract, but declarer will still make his par if he plays well, and each side is satisfied.

Many people have asked "What is a par?" or "How do you make par?" Perhaps the best way to explain is by illustration. In last year's set, Hand No. 1 was formed as follows:

S-A 5
H-Q 9 8
D-10 5 2
C-J 10 5 4 3

S-9 8 6 4 3 N S-Q J 10 7
H-A J 6 W E H-10 5 4
D-9 7 S D-Q J 4 3
C-A 8 3 C-7 6

S-K 2
H-K 7 3 2
D-A K 8 6
C-A K Q 9

ROBBERY

The par on this hand is three no trump, bid and made, or down one, and the principle—or lack of principle—is this:

South, who should become declarer, must take the first trick (usually a spade) in his own hand and lead a small heart toward the Queen in dummy. If West fails to go up with the Ace, declarer steals his ninth trick, and can establish his clubs while he still retains a spade stopper.

On the other hand, if West puts up the Ace and returns another spade, the contract will be set one trick. Thus, the ultimate result of the play depends upon West. And so does the East-West par, which is three no trump by North-South, set one. There were two pairs for this hand and each would receive one point if made. Last year there were ten pairs possible in each direction.

The instant a game is finished in any part of the world, the captain mails the individual score sheets of his players to the World Bridge Olympic headquarters. Tons and tons of them arrive daily and the post office department assigns huge mail bags and a corps of letter carriers to make immediate deliveries.

Then the clerical force goes into action, again. Even during the playing period the army of workers has had little rest because rules had to be interpreted, decisions given, special dispensations allowed to meet local conditions and last minute instructions to distant captains. At the same time the correct solutions of the hands are being rapidly mailed to all the captains, so the players may learn almost immediately how they fared.

AWARDS

The score sheets are segregated as to countries, states, districts and cities, and the returns checked off against the names of the captains. Rapid mathematicians figure the pars on each sheet and total them and when all returns have been received from one country or state, the score sheets tabulated, the leading ones are turned over to the judges for final awards. When the committee has selected all the winners, the announcement is made by wire all over the world and at the same instant the players learn their fate.

Just as in the theatre, after the audience has left the scenes are shifted, and the stage reset for the next performance.

FINGER PRINTS

Not Even Brothers Being Similar

Convicted of the theft of six pounds of lead from the Talkoo Dockyard at 5 p.m. on Friday, Wong Tak Cho, unemployed, was sentenced to two months' hard labour by Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy on Saturday. On a charge of returning from banishment, he was further sentenced to eight months' hard labour.

After the charge had been read out, defendant denied having been banished and said it was his brother, Sergeant McKay, testified that defendant's fingerprints were the same as those of one "Wong Sam," who had been sentenced to 14 days' imprisonment in February, six weeks in May and banished for 10 years in June this year.

In reply to the magistrate, Sergeant McKay said that there was no record of finger prints of different persons, even brothers, being similar.

THIEF SHOT

Police Fired On Snatcher

A snatcher who, after making his haul, in an attempt to get away was brought down by a fusillade of shots and died after admittance to hospital on Saturday night.

Shortly after 9 p.m. a hue and cry was raised near the district of Fife Street, when a Chinese Detective had to bring his revolver into use before the thief was finally brought down and seriously injured. The man was at once removed to hospital and died very shortly after.

The deceased snatched a bag from a married woman, Muk Mal Ho who was waiting for a bus in Nathan Road. This action was seen by a Chinese ex-constable who at once took up the chase shouting "robber," "robber" as he went, along. The detective attracted by these shouts joined in and on reaching Fife Street he opened fire and brought the man to a halt.

The purse was later recovered and the sum of $1.55 was found in it.

Part VI of that Ordinance provided for the re-sealing in the Colony of probates and letters of administration (including confirmation in Scotland) granted by courts

GARDEN PARTY

In Aid of St. Andrew's Church

St. Andrew's Church grounds were on Saturday transformed into a pleasure-hunting ground when in place of the usual annual race, a garden party was held which had everything there to delight both young and old. Treasure hunt and various games of competition were much in evidence.

The Garden Party was held to raise funds for the Church and the large number of supporters present testified to the worthiness of the cause. Early in the afternoon the Treasure Hunt started and after half an hour's delay, Miss Betty Park was the successful patron securing the highest number of points for the event.

Tea was served under the management of Mrs. Robson and at the conclusion of the fun an informal concert comprising individual songs and community singing took place in the Church Hall. Among those who contributed songs were Mrs. Robson, Mrs. Schroeder, Mr. Luard, Mr. Baldwin and the Rev. J. R. Higgs.

The function ended at 6 p.m. after the Rev. J. R. Higgs had presented the prizes and thanked the helpers and visitors for attending the party. In closing his speech, he reminded his hearers that the "great day" was next Saturday, when contributions towards the Church fund will be collected from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Besides Miss Betty Park, those who won prizes were Miss Phyllis Kirby, Major Primer and Mr. and Mrs. Jeffreys.

of probate in the United Kingdom, British Courts in foreign countries and British possessions, but in the latter case only where the legislatures of such possession had made provision for reciprocity (see section 70 of Ordinance No. 2 of 1897).

In the said Circular despatch the Secretary of State pointed out that though the principle of reciprocity is embodied at present in the United Kingdom Legislation on the subject (see section 1 of the Colonial Probates Act, 1892), it is desirable to retain it in the Colonial legislation, which he suggests should follow, in all parts of the Colonial Empire, the lines of the model enclosed with the Circular despatch.

The passing of this Ordinance will not alter very materially the existing practice of the Court in the Colony, as under the repealed provisions reciprocity has already been recognized and sealing of probates and letters of administration is allowed in the case of British courts in the United Kingdom, China, the Bahamas, Barbados, British Honduras, British Guiana, the Falkland Islands, Fiji, The Gold Coast, Grenada, Lagos, the Leeward Islands, Natal, New South Wales, New Zealand, Queensland, Saint Helena, St. Vincent, South Australia, The Straits Settlements, Tasmania, Trinidad, Bechuanaland Protectorate, Bermuda, British Columbia, Cape Colony, Manitoba, Negri Sembilan, Nigeria, North West Territories, Nova Scotia, Ontario, Orange River Colony, Pahang, Papua (British New Guinea), Perak, Prince Edward Island, Selangor, South Rhodesia, Swaziland, Transvaal, Uganda, Western Australia, the State of Victoria and Ceylon.

The absence of Gibraltar, Malta, Jamaica, Kenya, Tanganyika Territory, Mauritius, the Seychelles and a few others from the above list will doubtless be rectified when their legislatures have enacted legislation on the lines of the model Ordinance.

FERRY PIERS

The "Gazette" contains the draft of an Ordinance to amend the Ferries Ordinance, 1917.

Section 2 of the Ordinance amends the principal Ordinance by adding thereto a power to the Governor in Council to make regulations for ferry piers.

It is considered more appropriate that the power of regulating such piers should be exercised under an express enactment dealing with the subject rather than, as hitherto, under the general provisions of the Public Places Regulation Ordinance, No. 2 of 1870.

The amendment is effected by adding to the principal Ordinance, in the long title, the words "and ferry piers," by adding a new paragraph (d) to section 2 (1) defining "ferry pier," and by inserting a new sub-section (6A) in section 3 enabling the Governor in Council to make regulations for ferry piers.

OLYMPIC GAMES

Chancellor Adolf Hitler's personal assurance that anybody who comes to Germany to take part in the Olympic Games in 1936, whether competitor or spectator, will be accorded the warmest welcome irrespective of race, nationality or religion is enough to remove all doubts raised in certain countries that Germany would keep all Olympic rules.

When the National-Socialist regime took power in Germany in 1933 the International Olympic Committee was uncertain whether it would be possible to hold the Games in Germany as arranged, at any rate unless adequate guarantees were forthcoming that the rules would be respected.

It was doubted at the outset whether old colleagues in Germany would adhere to the rules as loyally as before, and Germany had to face the task of convincing the world, hence during the last two years many representatives of international sports have visited Germany to make investigations on the spot.

Without a single exception every one after a prolonged stay went away satisfied that all rules would be scrupulously respected. Therefore the Olympic committee had no choice but to leave matters as they were, that is to say hold the Games in Germany, according to programme.

This decision has been approved by the committee unanimously. Do not think that the committee would have shrunk from taking the Games away from Germany if they had had the least doubt about Germany's keeping her word. The Olympic committee is quite independent of any outside authority anywhere in the world.

The Committee have been convinced that the Jews will have complete freedom to train for the Olympic Games among themselves. That is all the International Committee has a right to require. They have no authority, right or desire to investigate and judge political and internal affairs in any country. The Jews that come to the Olympic Games in 1936 will be treated with exactly the same courtesy as everybody else.

Propaganda against the Olympic Games in 1936 is of a political, not sporting, origin. Proof of this is in the possession of fighting funds on a scale never obtainable for any sporting object. All countries adjacent to Germany, for instance Switzerland, Austria, Czechoslovakia and Scandinavian countries, which know conditions prevailing in Germany intimately have signified their intention of sending large teams to compete in the Games in 1936.

Fatal Fall From Roof

A somewhat alarming incident occurred at the Royal Naval Dockyard yesterday morning when workmen at work on the demolition of a workshop in the yard met with a serious accident which resulted in one death and the removal of another to hospital.

The men were engaged by the Kin Lee Contractors of Wood Road and were in the process of demolishing the roof of a workshop in the yard when for some reason or other two of the workmen fell down to the ground and received terrible injuries.

If Gossip We Must

(BY "ONLOOKER")

The M.C.I. Tennis Tournament organised by Mrs. Taylor was a tremendous success, and by two-thirty on Sunday afternoon scores of eager competitors arrived at the Peak Club.

It was a perfect day—lovely sun, and no wind to speak of, and if the players were not in the best form they certainly could not blame the weather this time! Some of the girls wore shorts, and some had sensible short dresses.

Our champion, Miss Rosamond Hancock, looked awfully nice in shorts. She played with her father.

From four o'clock tea was served in the club, and we all ate as much as we dared, in between matches. A great many spectators turned out to watch, including Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Ashley, Mrs. McAvoy, Mr. Bell, and Mr. Collins.

BRIDGE AND MAHJONGG

The Bridge and Mahjongg drive in aid of the fund for sending an Interport Hockey team to Shanghai was an enormous success. The whole of the Gloucester dining room was simply seething with people, and the merry sound of mahjongg chips and the frantic bidding of the bridge players produced sounds like the inside of a bee hive!

When tea appeared many girl players of hockey piled up with sandwiches and cakes. Among the attendant hockey girls we recognised Mrs. Harrop, Jean Dalziel, Jessie Wong, Marie Smith, Mrs. Dimsdale. Later Miss Owen Hughes came in looking delightful in a very flattering little hat, and Miss Joan Smalley was very much in evidence helping her mother who was looking after everybody.

A COCKTAIL PARTY

After the prize-giving a great many of us wandered into the "Art Exhibition" in the writing room. Among the exhibitors I saw Lady Shenton looking as charming as ever in her favourite brown, and Mrs. C. B. Brown wore that soft blue which seems to be her special colour. The pictures were perfectly lovely and the urge to buy was strong upon us.

Later I went to the most enjoyable cocktail party at a not so distant flat where I encountered a great many old friends, and met some nice new ones. It was nice to see Mrs. Felix Joseph back in the Colony after five months in England. She was wearing a lovely black velvet cocktail gown. Mrs. Croucher was holding court at one side of the room, and looked marvellous in a suit of black moire with a red blouse and a vastly becoming black hat. Mrs. Rolfe looked most striking in a silver tunic over a black skirt and seemed to be thoroughly enjoying herself.

AU REVOIR

(BY CHANCE)

We were very sorry to say goodbye to Capt. Armstrong and Mr. Richardson last Monday evening at the end of a cocktail party which they gave in the Peninsula Hotel. All the people connected with flying were there, and I saw Mr. and Mrs. Bell also Commander and Mrs. Clutterbuck. Attractive Mrs. Gibson was there too, also Mrs. Stevens, both in black, in addition several of our naval friends were present. Most people were going on to the Lincoln's dance, including Capt. Armstrong and I know he enjoyed it very much and by 7 o'clock the next morning he had left for Penang en route for England.

AT THE GUNNER'S MESS

Cocktail parties have again made this week very gay and busy. Last Tuesday Col. Wilson and his officers gave a very excellent party in the new Gunner's Mess which was an ideal place for it. A large crowd was there, and it was quite a treat to see a few new faces at the party. Fur and winter coats were much in evidence which made us realise that winter had at last come. A lovely fur coat was worn by Mrs. Rees over an extremely smart bottle green dress and halo hat to match. Heather and Betty Gerrard were others who came well prepared for the cold weather. Pretty Mrs. Wilson was in navy and was very busy helping her husband to entertain their guests. Very striking, I thought, Mrs. Gerald Portman in a cocktail frock of black and silver, and Mrs. Lowe looked very sweet in an ensemble of dark red and gold. Mrs. Campbell also favoured the cocktail mode of a black skirt and a very attractive gaily coloured blouse. Col. Harrison was there and his wife I noticed in a smart tailored suit with a little hat to match. Mrs. Keary was another who favoured a tailored suit of navy.

BLUE IN VOGUE

There was such a crowd that it was difficult to distinguish everybody. Pretty Mrs. Ropes was in royal blue and Mrs. Perse in black. Mrs. Bishop, always so smart was in a brown ensemble and Mrs. Wolsey in navy blue. Mrs. Murray was wearing a lovely black frock with a most attractive black lace top and long tight sleeves. Mr. and Mrs. Shannon were there she was so attractive in royal blue with a beautiful gold brocade coat. Mrs. Rybot recently returned from a visit to England was in navy blue, with one of the very latest of hats on. Edd Chauvin in red and a short fur coat looked very happy and so too did Mrs. McAvoy. Very striking was Mrs. Philip Smith in a black velvet gown with a short white fur coat and a smart little white hat. Dr. and Mrs. Smalley were there, also Capt. and Mrs. Coltart. Mrs. Salter favoured an ensemble of turquoise blue with black and looked extremely smart. Mrs. Beck was lovely in a dress of brown taffeta, and Mrs. Morris who came with her husband and Sylvia and Valerie chose maroon. I saw Audrey Steele vivacious as usual, and Mrs. Holmes was there too in navy and brown. Unless I stop now I shall go on for ever, but I must say the Gunners certainly know how to give a very good party.

YACHTING ENTHUSIASTS

There was quite a good turn out in the Cruiser class when eleven boats started from Murray Pier at 2 p.m. on Saturday. Typhoon sailed by Mrs. Keary did well in gaining second prize, being the first boat home with a lady at the helm. Typhoon was followed closely by Tern sailed by Mrs. Foley who was again followed by Sheila Downsap sailing Monsoon.

The other boats started from the Yacht club and sailed over a difficult course. In the 'A' Class Mrs. Thoys won the race in A2. Mrs. Perse sailing A12 was unfortunate in rounding Hols wharf mark when she had to give way to boats in other classes and came in a good second.

In the B Class Hols was first home, sailed by Brenda Kirks, coming round the last mark, the boat was well handled in passing those of other classes. Ida Ritchie sailing H1 took second place. Stella, sailed by Mrs. Elberly gained first prize in her class closely followed by Mrs. Eldirbeck in Willowden.

At the conclusion of the Regatta, the Commodore Mr. A. I. Shields asked Mrs. Thackeray to present the prizes, and as a memento of the occasion, the Commodore presented Mrs. Thackeray with a club Burgee.

ship, H.M.S. Kent, returns after the completion of her annual summer exercises in northern waters.

The weekly whist drive of the Sailors and Soldiers' Home, held on Saturday night, was well attended. Mrs. R. Hunt and Mr. J. Pigott won the principal prizes.

The Honourable Mr. M. K. Lo was the guest at a dinner party given by the Chinese Engineers' Association at the Kam Ling Restaurant, West Point, on Saturday, in honour of his recent appointment as an unofficial member of the Legislative Council.

Leung Tak Wong, of No. 37 Third Street, second floor, was admitted to the Government Civil Hospital on Friday, as the result of injuries received when he fell from the window at the above address at 9 in the morning. He died at 5 p.m. the same day.

Fook Kwan Fu, a youth, was removed to the Kowloon Hospital on Friday suffering from burns received when he dropped a lighted match into the tank of an old disused car.

Death claimed at the age of 58 the Rev. Father Henri Watthe, on Nov. 19 at Yichy, who spent many years in missionary work in China. Father Watthe passed away at the "Maison du Missionnaire" here, of which he was founder and director.

Deceased was a laureate of the Academie Française and a Chevalier of the Legion d'Honneur, a distinction conferred upon him in recognition of his mission work in China.

The body of a 25-year-old married woman named "Yi Hop," was discovered in the water near the

The forthcoming marriage is announced of Mr. Valentine Adrian Novikov, radio specialist, of No. 155 Prince Edward Road, and Miss Lucilla Sanchez Bunn, of No. 305 Prince Edward Road.

The mystery which surrounded the non-appearance of one of the leading local Chinese newspapers, the "Tsun Wan Yat Po," on Saturday morning, was soon cleared up when it became known that owing to a breakdown of the printing machine, the paper could not be issued.

Gorahai Reported To Be Retaken

STRATEGIC MOVE BY GRAZIANI?

Italian Claims Refuted By Abyssinia

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press").
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages, Ordinance, 1894.
Received, November 24, 4.50 a.m.)

Addis Ababa, November 23.
Larger bodies of troops are now being used by the Abyssinians in night attacks on the Italian lines of communications on both fronts, according to the latest reports received here. By systematically capturing or dispersing arms, ammunition and food transport columns, it is hoped to bring the Italian advance, which is still proceeding in some sections of the front, to a complete standstill.

The Abyssinian anti-tank measures seem to have met with considerable success, twenty four tanks it is declared having been put out of action to date. Where the nature of the ground permits, elephant traps are dug, and have proved just as good for engulfing tanks, while in the rocky country there are no lack for volunteers willing to risk their lives stalking the tanks with primitive, but effective bombs made of stick dynamite.

The Emperor informed pressmen that fighting on a larger scale will develop in the near future, adding that the Italian war bulletins by no means reveal the true position. The Abyssinian Government has considered it superfluous to take any notice of them, since it needed only a slight knowledge of the military and political situation to recognise their obvious inaccuracy.—Transocean Kuo Min.

DESERTIONS CLAIMED

Rome, Nov. 23.
An Italian war bulletin claims the wholesale submission and desertion to the Italian side of the chiefs and tribes in the province of Ogaden, on the south front, who are stated to have put their warriors at the disposal of the Italian forces. Among them is mentioned Hussein Hala, with 2,500 followers, and Abdul Kerim Mohammed, son of the "Mad Mulah," who handed over about 100 rifles.

These submissions, continues the bulletin, mean that the population of the whole middle and southern regions of Ogaden deliberately voiced the approval of the Italian action.

From the Northern front it is reported that detachments of Askaris threw the Abyssinians back over the Takkeze River and that the inhabitants of the Tigre are streaming back into the towns occupied by the Italian garrisons.—Transocean Kuo Min.

CLAIM REFUTED.

London, Nov. 24.
The Italian claim that the greater part of the province of Ogaden has voluntarily submitted to the Italian forces has been emphatically denied by the Abyssinian Legation here where it is declared that these claims are mere propaganda, not one word of which is true.—Transocean Kuo Min.

STRANGE TACTICS

Harar, Nov. 24.
Despatches from the Abyssinian headquarters indicate they are continuing their southward sweep and it seems probable they have re-occupied Gorahai without fighting. Their forces may now swing eastwards to Walwal or push southwards with the object of forming a junction with Ras Desta whose troops are reported to be in the neighbourhood of Lughferandi.

The Abyssinian advance, which has not been officially confirmed, has taken everyone by surprise and the Italian tactics remain a mystery. It appears that General Graziani has ordered a retreat, but he may have withdrawn his forces eastwards and is planning to cut off the Ethiopians after they have advanced some distance to the south.

A semi-official report says that Gabredare has been retaken. It is learned that the Ethiopians are advancing in three columns with a total of 25,000 men.—Reuter.

MORE TROOPS

Naples, Nov. 24.
The departure of the first contingent of the blackshirts division Tevere, which is mainly composed of Italian volunteers from abroad, was the occasion of even greater ceremonial than usual before the troopship Plomonte steamed out of the harbour on Saturday.

Two thousand five hundred Blackshirts marched to the palace of the Crown Prince where they received from the hands of the Crown Prince herself the flag which had previously been consecrated by the military chaplain.

The Crown Prince, Princess and the State Secretary in the War Ministry, General Balistochi, were present at the embarkation of the troops which was watched by a frantically cheering crowd of several thousands.—Transocean Kuo Min.

ETHIOPIAN STATEMENT

Paris, Nov. 24.
Dealing with the rumours that the object of the Emperor's recent airplane trip was to parley with various highly placed Abyssinian leaders whose imminent disaffection is feared, the Abyssinian Ministry in Paris has issued a statement to the press describing those reports as deliberate falsifications by Italian propaganda.

The Abyssinian Government had already declared that Ras Ralle Selassie Gugsa was the only leader who betrayed the Emperor and the country and the Government took this opportunity of repeating without fear of contradiction that no other Abyssinian leader had intrigued with the enemy.

On the contrary the war had strengthened the unity of the Abyssinian Empire by causing all princes and chieftains to rally round to the Emperor who on his air trip was the recipient of enthusiastic manifestations of loyalty.—Transocean Kuo Min.

ETHIOPIA HEARTENED

London, Nov. 23.
The censorship and the primitive means of communications are tending to confuse the news from the various war fronts. Mr. Walter Collins, who is at Dire-dawa, cables that a most optimistic view of the situation on the northern front prevails as a result of the Emperor's visit, in the course of which he conferred with General Nasibu at Jijiga.

They agreed upon strong resistance at Daggahbur, but the main defence will be concentrated between Jijiga and Harar, particularly on the left flank, as it is thought that the main Italian thrust will be made along the British Somaliland border to a point near the Jijiga-Hargaisa road. The Negus noted with approval the numerous reserve provisions dumps west of Jijiga, which are sufficient to feed the army for at least six months.

GREAT PUSH

Mr. Christopher Home cables from Asmara that the extent of the Italian preparations for the forthcoming great race, "Badoglio versus Sanctions," is indicated in an official statement that hundreds of tons of munitions, filling 500 trucks are concentrated in dumps at suitable spots near the front line. A mobile ordnance repair workshop, which has hitherto carried out 3,000 repairs to different types of arms, has been moved up near the front.

Aerial reconnaissance has failed to discover the Abyssinian encampments south of Makale, showing that the Abyssinians are learning the lessons of camouflage and scattering.

STOCK MARKET INFLATION

Wall Street Fears Depreciated

Washington, Nov. 23.
Fears that the present boom in Wall Street may lead to another stock market inflation were deprecated in a statement issued by Mr. Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board.

Mr. Eccles is of opinion that there is an element of safety and strength in the fact that purchases of securities are being financed with cash without increased bank credits.

He points out that the Federal Reserve system could only curb buying securities by fixing the margin of requirements when purchases were made on credit, which was not the case to any extent at present.

GOLD SHIPMENT

Havre, Nov. 23.
Gold worth over £4,000,000 was despatched to America aboard the Cunard liner Albatross. This is one of the biggest gold shipments during the recent gold exodus which is described in bourse circles as France's gold haemorrhage.—Reuter.

PRESENT HOLDING

New York, Nov. 23.
The appalling total of $1,960 million worth of gold is at present stored in American vaults according to the latest Treasury statement and the stream is embarrassingly increasing.

Of the $125 million which has flowed in since September France contributed £72 million, Britain £30 million and Holland £12 million.

The influx is viewed with some concern as the banks are already satiated with idle money and the vast addition threatens to encourage a credit inflation boom.—Reuter.

The police raided the administrative offices of the Catholic Bishop of Berlin, seized and removed large quantities of documents, and placed Herr Banasch, the Bishop's administrative adviser, under protective custody.

Hilo (Hawaii), Nov. 22.
Twenty thousand inhabitants of Hilo are fearfully watching the approach of a stream of lava thirteen miles long from the volcano Maunaloa, the eruption of which has been followed by an earthquake and a tidal wave.

The red glow from the volcano is visible from all parts of the island, and scientists are hurriedly organising expeditions to its peak in order to locate the point of eruption.—Reuter.

AMERICA TO TIGHTEN NEUTRALITY LAW

Embargo On Cotton Under Consideration

NO MORE SALE OF OLD SHIPS

Washington, November 23.
Mr. Cordell Hull has intimated that the United States might try to prevent shipments of cotton to the belligerents if it became necessary and he has asked whether it is considered that cotton is essential for carrying on war.

The U.S. State Secretary to-day pressmen that any question in regard to what constitutes a prime essential of war material would be given attention. Observers will consider the statement preliminary to placing cotton upon the unofficial list of war materials whose shipment the United States Government has approved should the shipments increase much above the seasonable level.

The Shipping Board has banned the sale to Italy of obsolete American vessels in which the Board were financially interested. This means the cutting off of supplies of scrap iron to Italy.

The Board reveals that while two of the three old vessels have been delivered to Italy for the purpose of breaking up for scrap iron and later converting into steel, the delivery of the third ship has been stopped since Mr. Roosevelt's neutrality proclamation.—Reuter.

SOVIET VIEW

Moscow, Nov. 23.
The Soviet Government's reply to the Italian protest against sanction states that the Soviet is in no way interested in the Abyssinian conflict or its outcome. The Soviet participated in the discussions at Geneva exclusively as a member of the League and took the view that all members of the League must enjoy full equality in case of attack irrespective of racial and other distinctions.

GUNMEN IN POLICE UNIFORM

Rumours Cause Alarm In Tientsin

Tientsin, Nov. 24.
The collapse of autonomy negotiations is expected to lead to a renewal of attempts to seize administrative power in Tientsin. Last evening, the situation was tense owing to rumours of an impending effort by gunmen wearing police uniforms to seize important parts of the city.

The regular police wore summer uniforms in order to checkmate the plotters, several of whom were arrested.

The self-government demonstrators distributed handbills from motor cars which were decorated with the emblem of the Blue Swastika Society, allegedly organised by the Japanese, who urged the overthrow of Nanking's domination and opposition to the monetary policy.

U.S. LABOUR HEAD RESIGNS

Washington, Nov. 23.
Mr. John Lewis, President of the United Mineworkers Union, has resigned the vice-presidency of the American Federation of Labour. No reason has been given for the resignation, but it is believed to be connected with the defeat of his policy of organising workers by industries rather than by trades at the recent convention of the American Federation of Labour.—Reuter.

COAL STRIKE THREAT IN BRITAIN

Grave Problem Facing The Country

London, November 24.
The General Election, sanctions discussions and other big recent preoccupations have before the growing realisation that the country is seriously threatened by a disastrous coal strike unless the ingenuity of Government can find a way out of the deadlock in the mining industry.

The recent ballot mirrored the miners in a spirit which has not yet evoked a substantial response from the owners, except those in Lancashire who suggested the possibility of a limited increase in wages in anticipation of the financial benefits from the establishment of a central selling organisation.

Vital moves will start on Wednesday when the Miners Executive accept Mr. Baldwin's invitation to meet the Mines Secretary, Captain Crookshank, and also significantly discuss with the Trade Union Council possible measures arising from the resolution of congress in September to give the miners maximum support in pressing their claims.

Captain Crookshank will undoubtedly see the owners' representatives after this meeting of the miners and probably try to induce the owners to generally follow Lancashire's lead, but the difficulties are enormous owing to the strength of the owners and reluctance to talk on a national basis, while any suggestion of leaving the question to individual coalfield associations, would involve the danger of delay and coordination difficulties which the miners are not inclined to tolerate.

Meanwhile something like an industrial revolution is opening up new hope for the industry foreshadowed in a statement by Mr. Kenneth Gordon reviewing the progress of coal hydrogeneration in the Bellingham plant, of which he is in charge.

In six years the amount of coal treated daily will be increased from ten tons to 4,000 tons, yielding very valuable by-products including petrol at the rate of 150,000 tons annually.

Experts acclaim the experiment as a master discovery and declare that in the event of war the nation to a large extent could be made independent of foreign oil.—Reuter.

Saints Secured Victory In Dull Game

S. CHINA AND LINCOLNS IN GREAT TUSSLE

Mediocre Week-End Soccer

Both stings of the South China Athletic Association secured their points in the matches played during the week-end. The "A" teams won a spectacular game at the expense of the Lincolns, and the "B" team added to their laurels by vanquishing the Gunners (S).

The rot which seemed to have settled down on the Saint Joseph's players disappeared yesterday when they defeated the Lyemun Gunners in a most insipid encounter. This victory will no doubt, help the Saints to regain confidence in themselves and there is a likelihood that they will do better next week.

A "hat trick" by Leonard featured an otherwise dull game between St. Joseph and R. A. Lyemun, which was played yesterday on the Royal Naval ground at Causeway Bay, when the former defeated the soldiers by 4 goals to one.

Both sides did not field their full teams, with the result that play was not of a very high standard.

The St. Joseph forwards made most of their opportunities, whereas the Artillery men, in direct contrast, although given as many chances to score, failed miserably in front of goal. Shortly after the commencement, Singh sent Victor away on the right wing. He cut across and sent in a hard shot which Durham did well to save at full-length.

Following the first corner forced, Souza sent the ball to Ayock who in turn passed to Leonard. The latter player weaved his way past the defence and beat Durham with a fast shot in the left hand corner of the net.

This success for the Saints was, however, short lived for the Artillery men levelled the score soon afterwards when following two successive corners, Reece received the ball from a melee and netted.

Just before the half time whistle sounded, following end to end play, Joanillo tipped the ball to Leonard, who repeated his early success by dodging past the defence and sending the ball into the net to put the Saints into the lead again.

Resuming play after the interval, a grand passing movement—the best in the game—saw St. Joseph working their way down the field to culminate with Ayock hanging the ball past Durham after the former had come in from the left wing position of the field.

MORE GOALS SCORED

The R. A. attacked strongly after this further reverse, and Bloor missed narrowly with a pile driver from 20 yards out. The Saints then took up the attack and Joanillo finished off a fine passing bout by shooting hard with a low shot. Durham however got his hands to the ball and pulled off a spectacular save. Some five minutes before the end, the Saints were again on the attack. Leonard attempted to break through on his own but was fouled. He elected to take the spot kick himself just a yard outside the penalty area, and netted with a shot that looked comparatively easy to save. Durham got his hands to the ball but failed to clear.

A few minutes later Singh, who had been doing sterling work at inside right, had bad luck with a shot that went the wrong side of the upright.

The final whistle blew with the ball in mid field.

Teams.—St. Joseph: Souza; Hussein and Costa; Souza, Sinclair and Elms; Victor, G. Singh, D. Leonard, Joanillo, W. Ayock.

R. A. Lyemun: Durham; Clancy, Fisher; Taylor, Night, Worthington; Rivers, Edmunds, Reece, Bloor, Sparks.

In the St. Joseph defence, Costa excelled himself, rarely giving the Artillery forwards an opportunity to shoot. Sinclair worked hard in the intermediary line, while Joanillo was the best of the forwards.

For the Artillery Bloor played a grand game in the forward line but was poorly supported by the rest of the forwards. Morton, centre half who was absent was greatly missed, and although Night worked hard he met his superior in his opposite number, Sinclair. The game was clearly contested, although a trifle on the slow side.

LINCS, UNLUCKY TO LOSE

One of the finest matches seen for a long time was staged at Sookunpo yesterday when South China and Lincolns were given a very hard fight by the Lincolns, who lost by the narrow margin of 2 goals to 1. The Lincolns were very unlucky in not obtaining a draw as they certainly deserved to share the points with the Chinese.

It was a thrilling encounter from start to finish with exchanges about even all the way, although at one time of the game, the soldiers were putting on the pressure for a long spell but the Chinese defence held out admirably.

The game started with the Lincolns threatening from the right wing. South China stood the strain and Higgins and Ridley tried their best to carry the game into the Chinese territory. They were however too well marked to do any damage.

LINCS DRAW FIRST BLOOD

Then King Cheung tested Reed with a hard shot but the goalie made a fine save. The Lincolns made a good raid on the right wing and Malpas sent over a neat centre but Wong Wing ran out and cleared but the ball went to Ridley who took a terrific bang and one of the Chinese defenders handled inside the area. Edmundson who took the spot kick, drove the ball straight at Wong Wing, who saved, but the ball rebounded for the same player to net the first goal of the match.

Lee Tin Sang at right back for the Chinese was in splendid form; his clearing being a feature of the game. The South China halves played very well and were fully extended for most of the time, as Ridley got going soon after the start and was most dangerous throughout. His speed and tackling being superb.

The Chinese were not long in getting to level terms for Lee Wal-long was instrumental in a fine move to the left wing, who sent the ball back to him and from an angle he sent the ball to King Cheung who was absolutely unmarked. Reed did not expect what was coming and was just left standing when King Cheung sent the ball into the corner of the net.

UNSUCCESSFUL RAIDS

Three minutes later the South China took the lead when King Cheung again got possession and netted a fine goal.

From this point onwards the Lincolns applied all the pressure and were often in their opponents' territory, but they could not do anything against the strong Chinese defence. Higgins was almost a passenger for a good bit of the game as he could not do anything right; whenever he got possession of the ball he would either fumble or else he would be robbed. Ridley was the pick of the forward line, and was trying all the time to obtain another goal. The two wings were playing well and sent over some good centres but the poor finishing of the inside men was the weak link.

The Chinese forwards combined well but they found in Edmundson and Moody a pair of stumbling blocks. Deeming at centre half was in good form and never left Lee to get any opening. Kwei Shing on the right wing was very dangerous and he nearly got two goals himself but for the excellent keeping of Reed.

The game ended with the Lincolns making many unsuccessful raids on the Chinese goal and it was rather hard luck that they did not draw level; a draw would have been a fair reflection of the game.

S. CHINA "B" VICTORIOUS
A game of missed chances by both sets of forwards resulted in a three goal victory for S. China.

LAWN BOWLS

Scots Beat England

St. Andrew's Society won their first Inter-Society Lawn Bowls match against St. George's Society on Saturday when on the Kowloon Bowling Green they trounced the Englishmen by 64 shots. The Englishmen lost all their matches and G. E. F. Thompson's four went down—hardest by 20 shots—to Wallace's quartette.

At the conclusion of the match Mr. G. S. Archbutt, the President of St. George's Society, thanked the winners for a very enjoyable afternoon's bowling. He then called on Mrs. Archbutt to present spoons to each member of the St. Andrew's team. Dr. J. C. Macgown, the President of St. Andrew's Society, replied, and then asked Mrs. Macgown to distribute spoons to the St. George's team.

HONG KONG RIFLE ASSOCIATION

Week-End Spoon And Practice Shoot

The ordinary week-end Spoon and Practice Shoot was held at Stonecutters on the naval range, on Saturday afternoon, when, in spite of the 2nd Battalion, The East Lancashire Regiment, as well as the Volunteers, being in camp, the attendance was well up to the average.

Shooting was very good, no less than ten scores of 90 or over, being made in the S.R. (b) class. Every one was sorry to hear that the S.R. (a) Champion Shot, Lance-Corporal Gooch was ill in hospital, and it is indeed fortunate for the Association, that no important matches are in prospect in the near future.

Intimation has been received from home that the Army Council, besides making a free issue of a new "1914" rifle to every officer and man of the Regular and Territorial Armies, has now approved that any member of the Territorial Army, who has had at least four years service, and who attends his annual camp for at least seven days, may attend the Imperial Meeting at Bisley for a period not exceeding eight days, for which time he will receive the same pay and allowances as he obtained while in camp. As a result, the National Rifle Association expect a great increase in entries at future meetings.

The following are the leading scores:—

Conditions:—As for the 1st stage of the "King's," viz: Seven shots and one sighting shot at 200; 500 and 600 yards. H.P.S. 105 points.

SAT-IS-FY. Something that pleases, gives satisfaction; something that just suits. For example, you are pleased with a dress. As applied to cigarettes, it means one that is MILD—that is not harsh or bitter; one that TASTES just right.

SANCTIONS

Financial Embargo
In Force

Article 3 of the Order is to come into operation on a date to be appointed by the Treasury, and the Treasury have on Saturday made an Order appointing Tuesday, Oct. 28, as the date on and after which the Article shall have effect.

1.—The interpretation of the provisions of the Order-in-Council in their application to individual cases is a matter of law on which a final decision, in any case of doubt, can only be given by the appropriate Court of Law. Subject to this, the following explanation of Article 3 of the Order is published for the assistance of bankers, traders and the public generally.

2.—Article 3 applies to loans and credits to or for the benefit of:

(i) the Government of any Italian territory;

(ii) any person (not being a body corporate) of whatever nationality resident in such territory;

(iii) any person (wherever resident) being a body corporate incorporated under the law of any such territory.

The above are referred to in this Notice as "Italian(s)". The phrase "non-Italian(s)" is used to mean any other person, corporation or Government.

It must be observed that Italian nationals resident outside Italian territory are excluded from the provisions of the Order, but that branches in other countries of corporations incorporated in Italian territory are included. Conversely other nationals (including British) resident in Italian territory are included under the provisions of the Order but branches in Italian territory of corporations incorporated in other countries are excluded.

3.—Loans and Banking Credits.
(a) Prohibited Business. Generally speaking, the following business is prohibited by the Order:—

(i) Loans, advances and guarantees to or for the benefit of "Italians";

(ii) Acceptance or endorsement of any bill of exchange drawn by an "Italian" or for the benefit of an "Italian";

(iii) Purchase of any bill of exchange (other than a bill payable on demand) from an "Italian" holder.

(iv) Issue of or subscription for shares in an "Italian" corporation.

BUSINESS ALLOWED

(b) Permitted Business. Other banking business with "Italians" which does not involve credit facilities is not prohibited. Thus the Order permits the remittance of funds, the purchase and sale (under ruling market conditions of payment and delivery) of currencies and of stocks, shares and bonds, the payment of interest, dividends, coupons, etc.

(c) Contracts with "Italians."

The Order prohibits, as from the date when Article 3 comes into force, the further execution of any contract with an "Italian" to do business prohibited by the Order, and the Order will therefore have to be complied with notwithstanding anything in any such contract. Thus the unavailing portion of any confirmed advance or overdraft credit will be cancelled, but to the extent to which such credits are availed of at the date on which the Article comes into force, repayment need not be called for until the expiry of the period for which the credit was granted. In the case of acceptance credits, bills of exchange accepted before that date need not be taken up by acceptors before maturity, but may not be replaced at maturity by renewal bills.

(d) Contracts with "non-Italians."

SALE OF GOODS

The Order does not prohibit the further execution of any contract made with a "non-Italian" before the 25th October 1935; thus any credit opened under such a contract, even if used for the benefit of an "Italian," may be maintained until the expiry of the contract.

4.—Sale of goods. The Order prohibits, as from the date on which the Article comes into force, the giving of credit to or for the benefit of an "Italian" in connection with a sale of goods. Goods may not, as from the same date, be supplied on credit under existing contracts, even where the terms of the contract involve the giving of credit. An exception to this is made in the case of contracts made before the 25th October, 1935, with "non-Italians."

The acceptance by U.K. exporters of the method of payment laid down by the Anglo-Italian Exchange of Notes of 27th April 1935, does not contravene the Order, provided that payment by the deposit of lire is made on or before the delivery of the goods.

5.—Customary settlements.—of account in connection with insurance contracts, stock exchange transactions, railway clearings, etc., are not affected by the Order.

The Order-in-Council is published in a special Supplement to the London Gazette to-day and will be on sale in the form of a Stationery Office publication on the morning of Monday, 28th October, 1935.

LOCAL SOCCER

"B" over the Gunners (8) yesterday on the Caroline Hill Ground.

The Chinese were the superior team and were constantly harassing the soldiers rearguard, but lack of ball control and frittering away chances robbed them the opportunity to score. It took them more than 20 minutes of play before the first goal was netted by Ng Po Kul who headed in from close range. This same player followed up with another, less than five minutes after in identically the same way.

The teams crossed over with 8. China "B" leading by two nil and the score somewhat flattered the soldiers as on the run of the first half play, the Chinese should have been six up but for the poor finishing work of Lee Shek Kam and George Tsang.

The second half was more or less a repetition of the first when the Chinese literally toyed with the soldiers. However this time the Gunners had several break-aways but once again poor finishing robbed them of their fruits of labour.

LISTLESS PLAY

South China attacked strongly for a time and George Tsang receiving well from Yeung Shui Yick scored with a well placed grounder. Play then became listless with both sides playing kick and rush football. The whistle sounded with half clearing from the goalmouth.

The Chinese forwards played well but Lee Shek Kam spoilt all their movements by his "fancy" football and a disinclination to part with the ball. The wings, Lee Shek Yau and Yeung Sui Yick, sent in some accurate centres while the intermediate line played well with Lam Tak Po always a thorn in the soldiers' side. Pau Ka Ping did all that was required of him.

For the soldiers, Adams in the pivotal position worked hard but found the Chinese forwards a shade too good for him. Half in goal could not be blamed, and of the forwards only Barraclough was a trier.

SATURDAY'S MATCHES

A thrilling encounter was seen at Caroline Hill on Saturday when the Recoelo and Athletics drew by scoring one goal each in their premier League game.

On the run of play the Recoelo were a better side, but the Athletics had a much stronger attack and often kept the Recoelo defence well worked.

The game opened with Athletics doing the attacking and Chau Man Chi missed what appeared to be an easy chance when he shot wide.

The Recoelo then got going and some very pretty passing movements resulted in Gomes putting them in the lead with a well judged shot from 20 yards out.

A quarter of an hour later the Chinese equalised from a pass by Lee Hung Ching which landed in front of the Recoelo goal mouth for Yeung Kun Po to send in a terrific drive which Marques did not see at all.

Towards the end of this half the Recoelo speeded up their game and Castilho sent in a shot which seemed to be a certain goal but Sui Tin-in saved well.

In the second half both sides tried hard to increase their scores but both defences put up a great resistance thus the forwards had little chance of getting within scoring distance.

CLUB LOST

The Hong Kong Football Club suffered a severe setback when they met the Fusiliers on Saturday in a First Division encounter and were defeated by three goals to 1. By this victory, the Fusiliers have brought themselves to the top of the League Table.

The Fusiliers played a grand game which proved to be one of the most exciting matches seen for a long time.

Rodgers put up a grand show for the Club and time and again he brought off some glorious saves. Sykes and Strange played well but were inclined to indulge in too much wild kicking.

The Club forwards were the weak point in the team as they could not get together; the wing men sent in some good passes but the inside forwards were too slow to seize the opportunities.

The game opened at a very fast pace, two goals being scored within the first 8 minutes. The Club were the first to take the lead through an opening created by Hill who sent the ball to Strange and he transferred to Elliot who beat Rodgers from close range. The Fusiliers drew level 2 minutes later when following a

BRITAIN'S SAFE AIR LINES

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Nov. 4.

Striking figures showing the steady increase of safety in British air transport were quoted by Mr. C. F. B. Richardson in an address to the Institute of Actuaries in London last night.

In 1929, when British aviation companies carried 28,327 passengers on their regular air routes at home and abroad, 12 passengers were killed. The number of passenger miles flown was 7,147,000.

In 1934, when the number of passenger miles—29,091,000—had been more than quadrupled, and the number of passengers had increased nearly five times—135,000—only nine were killed.

During the six years 1929-34 inclusive only 44 passengers lost their lives, a mortality rate of 130 per 1,000 passenger flights and 405 per 100,000 passenger miles flown.

FOREIGN FATALITIES

Passenger fatalities rates in leading foreign countries, stated Mr. Richardson, were:—

|               | Deaths | Passengers Carried |
|---------------|--------|--------------------|
| United States | 109    | 1,703,649          |
| 1928-32       |        |                    |
| Germany       | 32     | 517,310            |
| 1927-31       |        |                    |
| France        | 42     | 122,449            |
| 1927-31       |        |                    |
| Italy         | 9      | 155,974            |
| 1928-32       |        |                    |
| Holland       | 13     | 109,888            |
| 1929-31       |        |                    |

Discussing risks of private pilots, Mr. Richardson said age appeared to have little effect on the mortality rate, although pilots under 28 tended to have a higher mortality than older men. The mortality of student pilots was low, but they showed a heavy mortality after qualifying.

"Aviation is a new hazard that is entering more and more into our business," he added, "and the life insurance companies will be forced sooner or later to face the problem and find a solution for it."

melee in front of the Club's goal. Evans netted.

After the interval the Fusiliers went further ahead when Sullivan received from Hughes and converted a fine goal.

The Club tried hard to get on level terms again and kept the leather in their opponents' territory for a long period but still they could not score.

The Fusiliers secured their third goal through Sullivan who was absolutely unmarked in front of goal and easily beat Rodgers with a good drive.

RUGBY

Navy Avenge Defeat
By Club Seniors

Served better by backs who indulged in many splendid passing bouts, the Navy defeated the Club Seniors in an interesting rugby encounter on their home ground, at Causeway Bay, by two goals and a try (13 points) to two tries (6 points) yesterday, before a goodly crowd of spectators.

The Club opened the scoring through Fellden, who culminated a fine passing bout by scoring wide of the posts, Robertson failing to add the points.

Just before the interval the Navy took the lead when Lane cleverly picked up in the loose and scored between the posts for Benson to add the goal points.

THE BEST MOVEMENTS

The Club decreased the deficit in the first minute of the second half when Meeks broke away and passed out to Scott, the latter sending the ball back to Meeks as he was about to be tackled. Recovering quickly, Scott, followed up Meeks and took the latter's return pass to score in the corner. This was the best movement in the game.

The Navy retaliated from the resumption and St. Clair Ford went over after a head on collision with Robertson. Benson again added the points. Just before the end the Navy scored their last three points through Preece, who dived over from a five-yard scrum.

Col. Harrison was in charge of the game.

FRIENDLY GAME

All round superiority assisted the Navy "A" fifteen to defeat the Club "A" in a friendly game preceding the first encounter yesterday, by the overwhelming margin of 47 points to nil.

The Club was considerably weakened by the failure of several players to make an appearance, but the gaps were filled in by Fus. Barry and Fus. Kelshaw, who both played very well.

Fraser, Loxham, Peasey and Warren, the Navy backs, were much too good for their opposite numbers and did as they pleased in the second half.

HOCKEY

Caer Clark And
Brawn Cup Tourney

A solitary goal enabled the Hong Kong Ladies' Hockey Club to collect two points from the St. Andrew's Ladies in the Caer Clark match on Saturday at the Sookun-poo ground.

The game was very evenly contested and there was no score until about midway through the first half, when Mrs. Harrop seized an opportunity to have a shot at goal following a melee in front of the St. Andrew's citadel. The shot was undoubtedly a good one, but it must also be said that the custodian was partly unaided by the crowd of players just in front of her.

After the interval the Hong Kong Ladies carried out several threatening raids on the St. Andrew's goal but try as they did, they could not increase their score due to the good work put in by Mrs. Rose.

DRAWN GAME

In another Caer Clark Cup match the Recoelo Ladies and C.B.A. Ladies played a drawn game of one goal all. The C.B.A. Ladies lost many chances through their inability to shoot. Their main strength was in Miss I. Woolley.

For the Recoelo Miss C. Osmond, the right-back, gave a very creditable performance, while in the forward line Miss C. Silva was the only player who was outstanding.

Mrs. M. White opened the scoring for the C.B.A., shortly after the game had commenced, but Miss C. Silva equalised before the interval.

THE BRAUN CUP

The non appearance of the two umpires for the Braun Cup match between the Hong Kong Ladies and Central British Schoolgirls made the match an unofficial one and resulted in a drawn game of two goals all. Miss A. Martin and Miss J. Lakeman scored for the School in the first half while in the second stanza Miss H. Hance equalised for the Ladies.

"Y" LADIES LOSE

Miss H. Bockler, again distinguished herself when she scored the five goals that enabled the

At half time the score stood at one goal to nil in favour of the schoolgirls but after this Miss E. Holloway succeeded in opening the scored for the "Y." Miss Bockler, however, quickly added another four goals.

LINCOLNS AND FUSILIERS

A selected team from the Lincolnshire Regiment shared two goals with the Fusiliers' Battalion team when they met in a friendly hockey match at Shamshuipo. Green opened the scoring for the Lincoln in the first half and Thompson equalised shortly before time.

RADIO BEAT Y.M.C.A.

The Radio beat the Y.M.C.A. by 4 goals to nil when they met in a friendly hockey match at King's Park. A E. P. Guest and Kallwant Singh netted two goals each, all of which were scored in the second half.

NOMADS BEAT MULE COUPS

On the Marina ground the Nomads beat the Mule Corps by 3 goals to 1 in a friendly hockey match. S. Reed scored once for the Nomads in the first half, while E. C. Reed netted the other two. Mier Ahmed scored the Mule Corps' only goal.

BERLIN SHARE MARKET

Turnover Somewhat Restricted

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright.)]

Berlin, Nov. 23.

The buoyancy in the share market on Friday continued in certain sections on Saturday, but otherwise chiefly owing to the weakened tendency, it was erratic. At any rate, investors held off buying, which came chiefly from operators.

Fixed interest securities were friendlier, but the turnover was restricted. Gold Mortgage Bonds being a shade higher. Call Money was at 2 1/2. In the first half, the share market was listless, partly owing to the uncertainty as to the way economic development will follow the gradual discontinuance of state orders for the industry as foreboded in several important public declarations, the impression being that prospects of the industrial concerns paying the same dividends as heretofore are not so good.

Besides this the international situation has grown more strained since the application of sanctions began on Monday last, while the forecast of developments have a reflex effect on all European bourses. Towards the week-end the franc and gulden were also again feeling the effects of bear operations.

A smart recovery in shares occurred on Friday largely due to Herr Reinhardt's statement about the satisfactory condition of the Reich's finances and the prospects of an improvement in the Franco-German relations. Fixed Interest Securities prices kept steady, the turnover, however, remaining small. Except for Electricals and chemicals which were higher, share prices closed with little change. Reichsbanks, however, being a full 3 1/2 point down.

FRIDAY CONDITIONS

Berlin, Nov. 22.

The Share Market experienced a smart recovery on Friday largely because the prices have now reached a level at which the normal dividends promise more equable return on invested capital, partly because of the improved outlook of the German industries, for instance owing to the substantial increase of the state revenues from taxation in April and October and also the reports of the danger of the general strike of the British coalminers.

Fixed Interest Securities continued to be quiet. Gold Mortgage Bonds tending to be lower. Call money was at 2 1/2. Young Loan 102 1/2. (Thursday unquoted) Reichsbanks dropped 1 1/2 to 180 1/2. Salzdetfurth Potash 1 firmer to 186 1/2. German Steel Trusts improved 5/8 to 76 1/2. Siemens & Halske jumped 3 1/2 to 166 1/2. Bemberg-Rayon 1 weaker to 101.

THE SHARE MARKET

Harriman's Weekly Review

Saturday, Nov. 23.

Messrs. G. A. Harriman & Co's. weekly share report and market review issued at noon to-day states:

The market was again quite active but failed to maintain its firmness during the week under review, due principally to two main factors, firstly the tendency of exchange, and secondly the mixed reception of the new issue of the China Lights & Power Company. There is no rhyme or reason why any concern with such progressive powers and possibilities as the one in question should not feel justified in making an increase of capital when profits show such a substantial gain and where they feel confident of being able to maintain or improve on past earnings and dividends. In spite of their profits having increased by over 20% there is a small section of shareholders who still do not like the new issue and consequently offered their holdings for sale and in the meantime this pressure to sell has had a weakening effect on the market in general which will soon disappear in a very short while when these holdings have duly found a home. There is absolutely no necessity whatever in any lack of confidence in the future prospect of this progressive concern. Investment counters generally gave way with Hongkong Trans done down to $14, closing with sellers at $13 1/2. Hongkong Electric receded somewhat from $86 to $84 1/2. Telephones (old) were dealt in at $23 1/2 closing easier, the new shares having changed hands at $91. Hongkong Lands were very steady and were put through at $35 1/2. Star Ferries came to business at $88 1/2 and Wharves at $88. Dairy Farms were easier with sales and sellers recorded at $17 1/2. Minor issues registered a decline. Cements were done down to $2 10 and Hotels to $4 90. China Lights were very firm at the beginning of the week with buyers at $11, but on the announcement of the dividend of 50 cts. per share and a new issue of one new share to every eight existing shares slipped to $10 1/2 closing with sellers at this rate. Sinceres had a smart rise, having been transacted from $12 1/2 to $17. Providents (old) eased off somewhat and could be obtained at $1. Watsons had a sharp decline and were done at $4 1/2. Sterling counters were easier. Hongkong Banks changed hands at $1340/1400 and Unions at $374/40. The tone of the market at the close is quiet but there are many good buyers just inside present market levels.

Business during the week has been done at the following prices:

ferred against Chu Shiu, an apprentice mechanic when he appeared before Mr. E. I. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday and was fined $5 on the second charge, the other two counts being withdrawn.

The master of the shop in which the defendant is employed told the Court that the lad was cleaning the car which was parked outside the shop. The brake was accidentally released and the car rolled down the slope.

L/Bergt. Hayward told the Court that he found the lad in Jordan Road and as he did not appear to know what to do with the car, he was asked whether he had a licence and answered in the negative.

Here is Health

"The user of Sanatogen is richly rewarded in freedom from languor, a gain of strength and activity and alertness of mind".
writer Dr. C. L. Wheeler.
by using SANATOGEN

This is the opinion that medical men have of Sanatogen; and when it is remembered that more than 25,000 physicians have written about the gratifying results they have obtained with Sanatogen, it becomes evident that you can trust this really exceptional tonic to help you, too.

Prof. Mann, formerly of Oxford University, explained the reason for the wonderful influence of Sanatogen on health, in these words:

"A building-up process goes on in the nerves after the administration of Sanatogen."

Start improving your health to-day. Take Sanatogen, and notice how fatigue and nervousness disappear. Take Sanatogen, and in a few weeks you will feel and look better than you have done for years. Follow the advice of these physicians and enjoy once more that sense of youthful health.

On Fifth Voyage To Antarctic

The research ship William Scoresby left St. Katherine's Dock E. last month at the beginning of her fifth voyage to the Antarctic to procure data for the "Discovery" Committee, who are responsible for the trip. The object is to study the movements and habits of whales, and Mr. G. W. Rayner, of the "Discovery" scientific staff, has on board a special laboratory with equipment that will enable him to make an exhaustive study. On board are 23 men. Their captain is Lieut. C. R. Boothby R.N.R. and the crew are all selected seamen. Most of them hail from London, but there are Scotsmen from Clydeside and some men from the Midlands.

U.S. MERCHANT MARINE

Said To Be Behind Other Nations

Legislation to increase the tonnage of the United States merchant marine was advocated on Nov. 18 by the Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Daniel C. Roper, in an address to the Propeller Club of New York, a shipping men's organization.

Measures to this effect should be passed at the next session of Congress, Mr. Roper asserted, after pointing out that the United States ranks after Great Britain, Germany, Japan, the Netherlands, Norway and France in the tonnage of ships less than ten years old. Amid a world total of 8,423,000 tons in this category, the Secretary of Commerce declared, the United States has only 34 per cent.

Mr. Roper also emphasized the needs of national defence, stating that, although the United States was building its navy up to treaty strength, it was doing virtually nothing to supply the navy with modern auxiliary craft. Official figures recently compiled, he said, show that the United States, in the event of a major campaign, would need 900 merchant ships, totalling about 6,000,000 gross tons, whereas the nation actually possesses at the present time only 488 steamers in the foreign trade, totalling 3,965,000 tons. The only way to maintain defence auxiliaries, Mr. Roper said, is to encourage their operation on a bonafide commercial basis.
